

Terica Black Bashir has been a public servant in Atlanta for decades working on social, environmental, and economic equity. She served as a Senior Project Manager in the City of Atlanta Mayor's Office of Innovation & Performance for three Mayoral terms changing public policy relative to code enforcement, initiating a banking access program, and streamlining departmental processes. Terica now serves as the Program Director for the Metro Atlanta Land Bank and has been working on mixed market development as well as permanent affordable housing initiatives for the last 6 years.